Progress toward our priorities

By Eric Sundermeyer

Superintendent of Schools

Greetings, Roadrunner families! The summer months provide a time for schools to reflect and anticipate – reflect on the accomplishments during the past school year and anticipate the start of another school year. Let's take a look back at the 2011-12 school year through the lens of our three district priorities.

1) Articulate and support a cohesive PK-12 student-centered vision for continuous school improvement

- Established a PK-12 District Leadership Team. Our purpose is to broaden the base of leadership within the school, paying thoughtful attention to the development of a professional learning community, while focusing on teacher and student learning and achievement data. The newly formed team met monthly for half-days from January to May and was able to accomplish some major tasks in our time together. We learned and implemented the Individual Practices Inventory (IPI) to systematically measure the level of student engagement throughout our classrooms. The data gathered by our teachers has proven valuable as we design future professional learning for our teachers and staff. The DLT also provided input on the re-establishment of a curriculum cycle to be sure all our instructional materials are updated on a regular and consistent basis. Perhaps most importantly, we developed a sense of camaraderie, collaboration, and communication that will help us more proactively address our first district priority going forward. Team members included: Casey Christensen (Elementary Principal), Tom Dannen (Librarian), Jenny Dickinson (Preschool), Heather Dutrey (Math), Stephanie Good (Science); Jenny Jones (Title I Reading); Hannah Ludwig (Art), Kelly McKinney (Kindergarten), Giget Showers (Special Education), Jeff Snider (Secondary Principal), and Eric Sundermeyer (Superintendent/Curriculum Director).

First Day of School August 22, 2012

- The Board of Education continued its own development throughout the school year. It began with the follow-up of Harry Heiligenthal from the Iowa Association of School Boards (IASB). Harry conducted a workshop to help the Board and administrators put into practice the district priorities and decide how the system will be held accountable. The Board's learning continued with President Leah Gray attending the annual school board convention in November. There, we heard from keynote speaker Jamie Vollmer and his five S's to be recounted at the end of this article and first learned of a resource entitled Patron Insight that is designed to help us better communicate what the community wants to hear about their school and how they'd like to hear it. Bryan Arzani also attended the Delegate Assembly to make sure I-35's voice was heard when it comes to legislative issues. Most recently, Julie Brownlee attended an IASB workshop this June on the importance of goal setting for the Board. The entire Board has also engaged in "At the Board Table" exercises to work through likely scenarios they may face and further develop their understanding of roles and responsibilities as board members.
- The Elementary and Middle Schools continued their focus on meeting individual student needs through a specially scheduled session. Although referred to by various terms, including IDM, RTI, ALOHA, or reading skinny, the ideas behind the time are cohesive. Teachers review and analyze common student data at designated points, make instructional decisions on what students need, create flexible groups to meet those needs, check on their progress, and start the cycle over again. This scheduled time is designed to provide students with remediation, reinforcement or enrichment activities, depending on their achievement and has been an important framework for our school improvement efforts.
- 2) Engage in effective teaching and relevant learning for the 21st Century
 - Hired Assistant Principal for 21st Century Learning. Mr. Geoff Tessau's experience as both an administrator and technology coordinator made him the perfect fit for this new position to start the 2011-12 school year. On his first days on the job last summer, he oversaw the installation of our upgraded wireless access system. In addition, he was responsible for the vision, installation, and implementation of the iMac computer lab last summer, which as quickly become the pride and joy of many middle school students and teachers with its easy interface and powerful graphics and music software (e.g. iMovie, iPhoto, Garage Band, Sandbox). Mr. Tessau has also become our go-to person for the Edline school website and is constantly working with staff to make our web presence stronger, more informative, and user-friendly.
 - All staff engaged in various levels of technology training. Teachers learned from each other when attending state educational technology workshops this year, they then were expected to return and teach and practice their newly learned skills with their colleagues during our full days of professional development. These efforts have resulted in some awesome student projects and a different sense of excitement in the classrooms. As a district, we also have made a concerted effort to reduce paper usage, streamline processes using technology, rely more heavily upon electronic communication both externally and internally, and provide relevant training to our employees. All staff now have I-35 school e-mail addresses and must fill out leave requests, requisitions, and maintenance work

- All teachers were observed with walk-throughs and received written feedback aligned to the Iowa Teaching Standards. This put us well on track to fall in line with the Iowa Legislature's new mandate for annual evaluation of teachers. Walk-throughs (or unscheduled drop-by classroom visits) provide a great way for principals to be instructional leaders by being visible to students and teachers and gain a better understanding of what is happening as far as curriculum, instruction, and assessment. In addition, for two half-days, all PK-12 classrooms were observed by fellow teachers Jenny Dickinson, Heather Dutrey, Stephanie Good, and Jenny Jones using the Individual Practices Inventory (IPI) protocol focusing exclusively on student engagement using the IPI process. Those building-wide results were then shared with faculty to provide baseline data for the 2012-13 school year.
- 3) Operate with fiscal integrity, efficiency and effectiveness
 - Underwent annual audit with Nolte, Cornman, and Johnson, P.C. as required by Chapter 11 of the Iowa Code. We received an unqualified opinion on our audit meaning that in the auditor's opinion the financial statements are in all material respects presented fairly. There were no instances of non-compliance noted, and there was one internal control deficiency in regards to segregation of duties. The district's responses to the other findings were accepted by the auditors and have been implemented. The audit can be downloaded from our Business Services website, http://www.edline.net/pages/Interstate35CSD/Support_services/Business.
 - The district underwent a bond rating this past fiscal year and received an A+ rating from Standards & Poors. This process took place in preparation for refunding of outstanding General Obligation Bonds which were originally issued to finance the elementary and middle school buildings. By refunding the bonds, the district is projected to save approximately $150,000 over the life of the bonds which mature May 1, 2017. Due to a combination of the economy in the area, proximity to a larger metropolitan area, strong property values and income levels, very strong reserves, and low debt burden with rapid amortization, the district earned an A+ rating and provided a favorable rate on the refunded bonds which were issued on May 1, 2012.

As we anticipate the upcoming school year, we will continue to focus our efforts on these three priorities. Here are some of the plans already in place for 2012-13:

1) Articulate and support a cohesive PK-12 student-centered vision for continuous school improvement

- Prepare for Iowa Department of Education site visit, October 23-25
- Engage in PK-12 professional learning, Love & Logic and understanding poverty
- Research, review, pilot, and purchase K-5 math curriculum resources
- Establish professional library for staff use

2) Engage in effective teaching and relevant learning for the 21st Century

- Deepen our understanding of Common Core and Iowa Core Curriculum
- Engage in four data studies using Individual Practices Inventory (IPI) protocol
- Double bandwidth of Internet connection for greater network performance
- Purchase more laptops, desktops, portable devices for student use
- Implement i-35 student e-mail addresses to encourage collaboration
- Investigate feasibility of 1:1 program (each student has own technology device)

3) Operate with fiscal integrity, efficiency and effectiveness

- Implement time clock system to increase accuracy and streamline payroll
- Undergo audit from our new firm for 2012-2014, Hunt & Associates
- Work to renew our revenue purpose statement for statewide penny funds We are looking forward to a great 2012-13 school year to fulfill our mission of developing life-long learners and responsible, productive, successful citizens in an ever-changing society. Hope you're enjoying your summer and are ready to return soon!

As promised, I'll close with the five S's Jamie Vollmer presented to attendees of the school board association annual convention. If we all pledge to do this for each other, it will take us even farther at a faster pace in addressing our district priorities.

1. STOP internal complaining: We must, as professional educators, eliminate all negative talk, in all educational settings. If we can't work positively, purposefully and professionally, who is going to do this for our students?

2. SHIFT from the negative to the positive: Plan, analyze and deliver from a "growth-mindset" perspective. We will strive to build a culture that cherishes positive, professional talk regarding our daily educational work and interactions with students, staff and parents. (Our staff is already pretty good in the above two areas, but we can always get better!)
3. SHARE the positive. Tell folks in the school and community about your successes.
4. SUSTAIN the effort: Once you start, keep it up. Ask yourself regularly how you are doing on these things.
5. START today!

Snider's Secondary Scoop

Where has the summer gone? Hard to believe, but summer is already winding down. It seems like just yesterday school got out for the summer as our baseball and softball teams were kicking things into high gear. Before you know it, students will be starting volleyball, cross-country, cheerleading, dance, and football. Oh yeah, and classes will be starting up again soon too! It should be a great year and I am looking forward to my second year as a Roadrunner.

This year we will continue to delve deeper into implementing and aligning our instruction with the Iowa Core/Common Core. Another area of focus is going to continue to be student engagement. Last year we implemented the Instructional Practices Inventory (IPI) that helped us to evaluate student engagement. This year we will continue to examine that data and its trends as actively engaged students have greater knowledge retention and overall enjoyment of school. We will also be focusing on effectively using formative assessment in our daily practice to provide the best instruction for each individual student. We are going to continue to use clear learning targets for each lesson to focus student learning. Lastly we will continue to move forward with our technology initiative by including more technology during instruction and putting more technology in student's hands as we prepare them with the technological skills they'll need to be successful in an ever-changing society.

I also wanted to provide you with some important dates and information as we approach the start of the school year:
August 7th and 9th – Registration (8:00 AM – 8:00 PM)

August 20th – Open House (6:30 – 7:30)

August 22nd – First Day of School (1:15 Dismissal)

August 23rd - 24th – 1:15 Dismissal

Class schedules are currently available on-line for secondary students by going to My Edline and then private reports. This gives students an idea as to what their schedule will be for the fall. If students have any questions or want to make any changes, Mrs. Steinlage will be available beginning the week of August 6th. 9-12 graders please email Mrs. Steinlage to set up a time to meet. We will try to do this for our students to get schedules finalized. Mrs. Steinlage will be available to help 6-8 graders with their schedules on August 7 and 9th. New students (6-12) please call or email Mrs. Steinlage to set up a time to meet and set up a class schedule. If you have a copy of your transcripts that is helpful! Please email Mrs. Steinlage at asteinlage@i-35.k12.ia.us.

One thing high school students will notice on their schedule is a 9th period for additional academic support for freshmen and sophomore students as well as students on the restricted list or failed a class. The academic support areas in which students are placed will be based upon IA Assessment scores, classroom academic needs, and teacher recommendations. The bell schedule is posted on the secondary website. Juniors and seniors not on the restricted list will be allowed to leave after 8th period (2:55). Students will have the ability to earn their way on/off the restricted list as has traditionally been the case (every couple of weeks). Our staff's hope is that students will see this as a reward for their academic success and a carrot for those needing to perform at a higher level.

The schedule will also change for the middle school., this is also posted on the secondary website. After a lot of thought and discussion with the middle school staff, we decided that we really need to bring middle school homeroom back. All students will receive Reading intervention and extension on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday through the coordination of our reading coach. Wednesday's Reading RTI will be replaced with Homeroom/Advisory. Additionally, all students will receive Math RTI Monday – Friday through the coordination of our math coach. We feel these changes will help our students achieve at an optimum level.

As we continue to become more technologically savvy as a district, you will see several things posted on our website. We have the handbook, course descriptions, tardy policy, and school supply lists posted on our Secondary School homepage: <http://tinyurl.com/crtfpxl>. Additionally this year, each student will be receiving their own Google account with the help of our technology department. This will help students with turning in projects and papers as well as provide an effective and efficient way for students and teachers to communicate

Another item that will help our students in the secondary with organization, homework/project completion, and communication with parents each student will receive an agenda the first day of school. The agenda will have room for each class's assignment, grade updates, hall passes, and even the school events for that day. It is another great way for parents, students, and teachers to communicate.

We are going to have a high school math textbook open house. This past year our secondary math team reviewed, examined, researched, and taught lessons from new textbooks in an effort to find one that worked best for our student's needs while still meeting the satisfying the requirements of the common core. Using teacher and student feedback, they selected a new math series, Holt McDougal Larson Common Core Edition. At 7:15 August 20th our math department will talk a little bit about the process and the benefits the series provides our students.

Lastly we do have some new staff for this fall. You may want to take a moment during Open House on the 20th and meet our new members of the secondary staff: Elli Marlow (7/8 Language Arts), Jordan Ederly (HS Math), and Lori Day (FCS). Additionally with Mrs. Myers teaching Science full-time this year, our new Dean of Students will be Rose Dickinson. Please take a moment to welcome them to the community!

As you can tell we have a lot of very exciting things happening this fall and it should be a great school year. Enjoy the remainder of the summer and we look forward to seeing you at Registration or Open House.

FOCUS ON 21ST CENTURY LEARNING

By Geoff Tessau

Needs Assessment Survey

Interstate 35 has developed a Needs Assessment Survey so that we may learn the community's perception as to how we are doing on working towards our mission and meeting our district goals. The survey questions were developed by district staff, and were then refined by the District Leadership Team, School Improvement Advisory Committee (SIAC), and the School Board.

This brief online survey examines four areas that the district wishes to get community input on. These areas are: communication, facilities, administration, and technology. The data compiled by this survey will be analyzed by the SIAC committee and school administrators this fall, and the result will be shared with the school board as well.

Please take 5-10 minutes to complete this survey at your earliest convenience. The survey is open to all residents and attendees of Interstate 35 School District. The survey will be available all summer long, and computers will be available during registration for those without computer access. If you wish to have a paper copy of the survey, they are available in the school offices.

You can access the survey by visiting the district website, and look for the link on the right under Items of Interest.
